

ABSTRACT

A gaming machine operable to play a base game and a 5 second game; the gaming machine including a first display adapted to display progress and results of the base game; the gaming machine further including a second display adapted to display progress and results of the second game; the base game and the second game arranged to be 10 played such that selected ones of outcomes of the second game affect play of the base game, whilst the outcome of the second game is independent of the outcome of the base game.